I have a Windows Server 2008 with scheduled tasks running, mainly .bat files calling PHP files. I have 2 users on the server, one Admin and the other is a Standard user. In my case 2 tasks redirecting output to the same file were scheduled too close to each other. When then 2nd task kicks off the first task is still running. I am trying to run a .cmd through the task scheduler in windows server 2008 R2.I have logged in to the server from a user who is in the Administrators.
